

1. Policy

This policy/procedure supports the Standards for RTO's 2015.v2 in providing a process for complaints and appeals to be heard and actioned. All complaints and appeals received by Australian College of Trade will be viewed as an opportunity for improvement.

Despite all efforts of Australian College of Trade to provide satisfactory services to its students, complaints may occasionally arise that require formal resolution. The following procedures provide students the opportunity to have any issues relating to a substantiated complaint or appeal resolved and resolutions reached that attempt to satisfy all parties involved. This complaints and appeals process will be at no cost to the student.

Standards for RTO's 2015.v2 - Chapter 3 – Support and Progression

The Users' Guide for Standards for RTO's 2015.v2 – Chapter 3 - focuses on how registered training organisations (RTOs) support students' progression in their learning. This is the third phase of the student journey.

Clauses 1.7, 5.4 and 6.1 to 6.6—Supporting and informing learners; managing complaints and appeals

This policy and procedure cover Clauses 6.1 to 6.6

Clauses 6.1 – 6.6 - Manage complaints and appeals

Clause 6.1

The RTO has a complaints policy to manage and respond to allegations involving the conduct of:

- a) the RTO, its trainers, assessors or other staff
- b) a third-party providing services on the RTO's behalf, its trainers, assessors or other staff or
- c) a learner of the RTO.

Clause 6.2

The RTO has an appeals policy to manage requests for a review of decisions, including assessment decisions, made by the RTO or a third-party providing services on the RTO's behalf.

Clause 6.3

The RTO's complaints policy and appeals policy:

- a) ensure the principles of natural justice and procedural fairness are adopted at every stage of the complaint and appeal process
- b) are publicly available
- c) set out the procedure for making a complaint or requesting an appeal
- d) ensure complaints and requests for an appeal are acknowledged in writing and finalised as soon as practicable, and
- e) provide for review by an appropriate party independent of the RTO and the complainant or appellant, at the request of the individual making the complaint or appeal, if the processes fail to resolve the complaint or appeal.

Clause 6.4

Where the RTO considers more than 60 calendar days are required to process and finalise the complaint or appeal, the RTO:

- a) informs the complainant or appellant in writing, including reasons why more than 60 calendar days are required, and
- b) regularly updates the complainant or appellant on the progress of the matter.

Clause 6.5

The RTO:

- a) securely maintains records of all complaints and appeals and their outcomes, and
- b) identifies potential causes of complaints and appeals and takes appropriate corrective action to eliminate or mitigate the likelihood of reoccurrence.

Clause 6.6

Where the RTO is an employer or a volunteer organisation whose learners solely consist of its employees or members, does not charge fees for the training or assessment, and does not have in place a specific complaints and appeals policy in accordance with Clauses 6.1 & 6.2, the organisation has a complaints and appeals policy which is sufficiently broad to cover the services provided by the RTO.

What this Standard means for Australian College of Trade

Australian College of Trade must have a policy for dealing with complaints about our organisation, third parties, staff or other learners. We must also have an appeals policy, in case Australian College of Trade is requested to review or reconsider a decision it has made (e.g. an assessment decision).

We must make these policies publicly available, for example, by including them on Australian College of Trade's website or displaying them in common areas for staff and learners.

Make the process for lodging a complaint or appeal clear and explain what will happen as a result. Ensure people are not disadvantaged. Specifically, do not:

- require them to complete overly complex forms, which can be a barrier to learners expressing their concerns, or
- require learners to provide extensive written information as part of the complaints process.

Allowing learners to easily engage with Australian College of Trade staff about any concerns they have can stop minor issues becoming larger.

Australian College of Trade's process must follow the principles of natural justice and procedural fairness by allowing anyone subject to a decision by Australian College of Trade, or anyone who has allegations made against them, to tell their side of the story before a decision is made.

Ensure that the decision maker is independent of the decision being reviewed (e.g. an assessor should not consider or decide an appeal against an assessment decision they made).

If the person making the complaint or appeal is not happy with the outcome, they can decide for an independent third party to review the complaint or appeal. Australian College of Trade will disclose any costs associated with a third-party review in its policy, so all parties are aware of any costs they may need to pay. Note that ASQA is not able to act as the independent third party for reviewing complaints.

Australian College of Trade is to deal with complaints and appeals promptly. Identify the timeframes that will apply to resolution of complaints and appeals, so that complainants know how long it should take to get a response from Australian College of Trade at all stages of the process. This will minimise the chance of complainants referring their complaint to ASQA, which can incur additional costs to Australian College of Trade. If a complaint or appeal (including any review process) will take more than 60 days to finalise, write to the people involved explaining the delay. Record all complaints and appeals received, and document outcomes. Use this information to review Australian College of Trade's processes and practices to ensure the issue doesn't happen again.

Explanatory notes

Managing complaints and appeals

Learners and other clients are most likely to raise issues (for example, about a trainer who cannot be contacted or training resources that are difficult to understand) if Australian College of Trade creates an environment where all feedback is welcome and where openness is valued.

The benefits of creating this environment include:

- Australian College of Trade gains more valuable feedback on which to base continuous improvement activities
- Issues are less likely to be escalated into formal complaints
- Learners and other clients are more likely to be satisfied with Australian College of Trade's performance, which is likely to reduce attrition rates and to promote return business.

Australian College of Trade can assist learners and other clients to raise issues by:

- Providing information to them about how feedback is valued
- Providing avenues for them to provide feedback, for example, student forums, suggestion boxes, scheduled feedback meetings with a staff member whose role it is to support learners, weekly phone calls to workplace supervisors
- Thanking them for their feedback, responding to issues raised quickly and providing them and other clients with information about how such issues have been addressed.

Complaints arise when a client is dissatisfied with an aspect of Australian College of Trade's services and requires action to be taken to resolve the matter. Appeals arise when a client is not satisfied with a decision that Australian College of Trade has made. Appeals can relate to assessment decisions, but they can also relate to other decisions, such as a decision to exclude a learner from a program.

2. Procedure

Informal process

Where possible all non-formal attempts shall be made to resolve the complaint. This may include advice, discussions, and general mediation in relation to the issue. Important information about ASQA's complaint-handling role:

Before you submit a complaint to ASQA, please be aware that:

- ASQA takes a risk-assessment approach to complaints—their resources are limited so must focus on the most serious complaints.
- ASQA's role is not to act as a student advocate for individual students. Rather, ASQA uses the information reported through complaints to inform how it regulates training providers.
- ASQA has specific confidentiality obligations in relation to registered providers. ASQA respects both privacy and natural justice considerations in handling complaints. This means that complainants will be advised how their information was used in the regulatory process although in some instances the advice will not be detailed, and the process can be lengthy if audit activity is involved.

National Training Complaints Hotline

Anyone with a complaint or query about the VET training sector can call the National Training Hotline. The hotline directs complaints to the appropriate Commonwealth, state or territory organisation for help.

The hotline also allows the Department of Education and Training to analyse complaint trends in order to quickly identify what further action and improvements are needed.

The National Training Complaints Hotline is accessible on 13 38 73 and is available Monday to Friday, from 8am to 6pm.

You can also send complaints via email to skilling@education.gov.au
